Dear Red:

My appologies for not sending this off sooner, but somehow the time slips by without being able to get to all the things that should be worked on.

I was heartened in meeting with you and the group last week to see the keen interest you demonstrated to make this thing go. We have difficult problems to be sure, and yet I gathered from your talks that there are answers although they may not be known fully to us at this time.

As you and I discussed after the meeting, we are interested in bringing our files up to date with respect to specifications, quality control procedures and the milipore sampling guide. Additionally, we would like your input on the mixing procedures for adding the 1100 oil and a procedure for checking the mix to see that we have obtained the proper mix proportion.

We would also like to work on the problem of using the slush fuel in the generators, which you brought to our attention and to do this we will need some specifics in order to satisfy the diesel people that we are not using some sub-standard mixture. Can you conveniently provide us with something on this point?

We have sent instructions to the folks to prepare their fuel reports in the future along the lines you suggested. Our procedure includes your representative in the immediate locale as the office to receive data. As I understand it, your folks will then TWX this info on to you. We should see the new type report either next week or the week following.

With regard to our communication, you may send the material requested above in a sealed envelope with my name alone on the outside. This envelope is then to be placed in an outer envelope, sealed and addressed as follows:

By this dual envelope system we can be assured of proper office distribution of our correspondence.

With kindest personal regards,

Sincerely yours,
